Spring Project I'll Fly Away April 2020

GOAL: record your part of I'll Fly Away onto an audio file that you will send to Maggie.

What you will need:

1. Your computer/laptop and your earbuds/earphones

2. your smart phone

3. Voice Memos (an app that comes with iPhones) or similar, like AudioMemos (free download); some way to record an audio file as you sing.

At the top of the Practice Tracks area on our website, you will find some "Click Tracks" for I'll Fly Away that have a metronome background. Be sure to review your part of I'll Fly Away before attempting a recording. Explore the tracks to determine which track will work best for you to listen to as you record. (Some may want to use the ALL, others the individual voice part or the 'reverse' track) You MUST listen to a click track while you are recording your part so that we are all singing at the same tempo and in the same key!

It's going to be easier if you are not looking at your score while recording, but if you need a cheat sheet-use one. And keep in mind, you can do as many takes as you want before sending one to me! You can start over mid-way through recording, too. When you have made your recording, save and "share" via email to phinneysings@gmail.com

Use "maggie's score" and the click tracks to review the song and the rhythms as we sing them. (This arrangement is not exactly like the one you learned in childhood!) Once you have reviewed your part and have practiced with the click track you are ready to record:

SET UP :

Situate your phone and laptop near each other.

PLUG your headphones into your LAPTOP and don the headphones.
Locate the click track you want to listen to while you sing your part.

Open the recording app on your phone (VoiceMemos etc)

RECORD:

1. First start recording on your phone app. (Usually by pressing a record button)
2. Next hit play on the click track (on your computer).
3. Now Sing!
4. When done, stop, save, and send!
