

Likhon' ithemba lam (Xhosa church chorus)

Text	IPA	Translation
Likhon' ithemba lam	[li kɔn] [i tɛm ba] [lam]	My faith exists
Ndonyuka nalo	[ˈdɔ ju ka] [na lɔ]	I rise up with it
Ndize ndingen'	[ˈdi zɛ] [ˈdi ˈgɛn]	I will enter
endumisweni	[ɛn du mi swɛ ni]	the heavens
yho!	[jɔ]	[exclamation of joy]
Themba lami	[tɛm ba] [la mi]	My faith

During the 1970s, a slow, powerful hymn called iThemba lami became very popular in South Africa. People sang the song at church, at school and at social gatherings. iThemba lami was one of a number of hymns that provided strength and comfort to those suffering under the crushing weight of apartheid.

This joyous version is a newer setting of the familiar text, which we first heard performed by groups of high school and college students in Cape Town in 2012.

STRUCTURE:

AA BB ÄÄ BB A

Ä = all parts hum

*everyone begins dancing on the downbeat of the last note of the bass intro line (lam), just before the upper three voice-parts begin to sing

A Section = bass intro: likhon' ithemba lam... followed by choral entrance: Ndize ndingen' endumisweni...

B Section = Themba lam, ndonyuka nalo...

ALTO PART

*(bass: Likon i temba lam donyuka na-a-lo
i temba lam)*

di—ze ndigen endumi sweni
di—ze ndigen endumi sweni yo 2x

(tenor: temba la-a-a-mi)

temba lam
donyuka nalo
temba lam
donyuka na-
dizen di- — — ze
ndigen en-du-mi sweni yo 2x

(Back to first part and do one time)