Wongolo, you're leaving When will you come to see me again? You're leaving
The country is changing, when will you come to see me again? You're leaving.

This song date way back during the slave revolution, by the way it is not Wangolo it is, Wangòl oh!, Wangòl or King Wangòl was the powerful Vodou God that was with Jean Jacques Dessalines. This song begin after he left Dessalines' body and Dessalines became vulnerable for assassination, ever since no Haitian were able to summons him. In the song we are begging King Wangòl to come back because the country is in turmoil
